A WORD FROM THE HEADS OF THE SCHOOL

The "Deaconesses in Charge" find it difficult to realize that it is twelve years since they wrote their first forward-looking "report" for the ALUMNÆ BULLETIN; and the realization is specially difficult at this season when the incoming group of students, the start of a new year of work, the pressure of the present and the immediate future, with new personalities, new adjustments, almost make us forget that there is a past! It is at Commencement time that we call the roll of the years, not in October! Now the roll is of our present household.

Ten of our last year's family have come back to us as Seniors; and the resident Junior class numbers eleven. There are in addition two non-resident students, one of them taking full academic work.

We do not count in this list Deaconess Margaret Bechtol (1925) who is taking six hours' graduate work, and helping us in an infinite number of ways between times. Deaconess Hilda Dieterly, also living at the School, is working in Grace Emmanuel Parish; Deaconess Simpson and Deaconess Armstrong, Deaconess Mills and Miss Lucille Moore (1923) are, as in the past, members of the family and busy with their own parish duties. Mrs. Zachry, the choir-mother of the Cathedral will, we hope, be with us before this letter goes to press. The "missionary room" is occupied by Miss Ernestine Gardiner (Spcl. 1919-20) from Tokyo, on furlough.

Since the opening of school we have had brief visits from Cecelia Nelson (1927) on her way back to her work in Stanley, Va.; from Elizabeth Dickson (1927) who sailed for Japan via Panama, on October 22, after regular furlough; and from Mrs. J. V. Apthorp (Louise Phelps, Spcl. 1911-12), Olivia Gazzam Morrish (1921) and Mr. Morrish also came in one Sunday for lunch on their way back to their home in Florida.

There are two changes in the staff this year—the Rev. Dr. Leonard Hodgson, who has for the past four years been our instructor in Doctrine and in Prayer-Book, has resigned his professorship at the General Theological Seminary to return to England as a Canon of Winchester Cathedral. His going will be felt as a real loss by those graduates who have known him at St. Faith's not only as a lecturer but as a loved and trusted friend. We are indeed fortunate in having as his successor at the School another of the G. T. S. faculty—the Rev. Dr. M. Bowyer Stewart, well-known by name to many of the Alumnae, we feel sure. There is also one change in the household staff. Deaconess Dowding (1927), who has assisted the Deaconesses in Charge for four years has accepted a position at the Church of St. Matthew and St. Timothy. Our congratulations and best wishes for her new work go with her.

It is less than three weeks since the opening of term, but already there is the sense of permanence and stability. The Church School has begun, the Communicants' League has had its first meeting, the Juniors are rehearsing some truly mysterious "Mystery" for the Eve of All Saints. The St. Faith's Day scene was given—on our very first evening together, October sixth—by Katherine Jones and Lydia Ramsay. The Bishop and Mrs. Manning have dined at the School for our first Friday Night—the Bishop speaking to us afterward in the Oratory on "The Church and Personal Religion", and so setting before us the high corporate and personal ideal for our year; Mr. Courtenay Barber has told us of the work and plans of St. Andrew's Brotherhood, of which he is National President; and the Rev. C. Rankin Barnes, Executive Secretary for Social Service of the National Council, has given us a wonderfully interesting evening. Father Bickersteth (Community of the Resurrection) whom only to behold is a spiritual inspiration, came to us for dinner and an informal evening—not a "Speaker's Night". And if we did not capture the Bishop of St. Albans as our exclusive property, we did hear him, as a household, in his inspiring and practical sermon at the Cathedral.

Whatever may be said of life at the School, it is not monotonous or empty. We hope it may not grow too full, even of good things, for the quiet and order that are essential parts of this time of preparation.

A WORD FROM THE EDITOR

A world of hard times, but we, the deaconesses and graduates of the school are not only citizens of a heavenly country but heralds to the world. This spiritual world enwraps us, in each move of our lives we are to follow its laws, to set forth its glory, to attract to its blessedness. May we not set before our inner eyes, this hard year, pictures of its wondrous beauty. They have been painted for us through the centuries. May not our ears hear the songs of the other world. They have been sung by the poets of all the ages. We are citizens of no mean country, we walk surrounded by angels and archangels and the whole company of heaven. Lift up your hearts!

REPORT OF ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

The fifty-fourth regular meeting of the Alumnae Association of the New York Training School for Deaconesses was held at Synod Hall on Tuesday, September 29th at 3:00 P. M. with twenty members present. The meeting was opened with prayers by the President, Deaconess Woodward.

The regular business meeting began with the President calling for the minutes of the last meeting, which were read and approved. The Treasurer's report was read by Deaconess Schodts, in the absence of Miss Chappell, and ordered on file. This report was for the period between May 15th, 1931 and September 29th, 1931. The following balances were on hand at this time: General Fund, $125.30; Scholarship Fund, $556.27. The report for the fund for Ellie's grave was given by Deaconess Dahlgren. The total amount in the fund is $107.80 with a balance of $17.20 yet to be raised. The suggestion was made by Deaconess Schodts that in January, if the full amount has not been given, the deficit should be made up from the General Fund.

The President then called the attention of the meeting to the fact that only 57 members had contributed to the Scholarship Fund. Upon the suggestion of the President, Miss Griswold spoke of a plan, similar to the box plan of the United Thank Offering, that would help in enlarging the Fund. A motion was made and seconded that these small boxes should be sent out with the next copy of the BULLETIN to all members of the Alumnae Association.

A motion was made by Deaconess Edith Smith and seconded, that the Acting Secretary send a letter to Evelyn Anderson, expressing the appreciation of the Association for her services as Secretary.

An invitation for the January meeting to be held at the home of Miss Chappell, the third week in January, was accepted.

A motion was made and seconded that the Acting Secretary send a letter of thanks to Bishop Manning for the use of the Undercroft of Synod Hall.

The President then introduced the speaker for the afternoon, Miss Helen Hendricks. Miss Hendricks formerly worked under the Board of Missions in China. Since then her travels have been far and wide, a "vagabond in work". Miss Hendricks described, in a very interesting way some of her recent experiences. Her stories of playing the organ for a Ku Klux Klan meeting, helping a young Rabbi with his services for children, thrilling moments in Paris and Rome with special emphasis on the beauty of life abroad, were enjoyed by all.

After Miss Hendricks' talk, a motion was made and seconded that the meeting adjourn.

Deaconess West and Miss Griswold were hostesses at tea after the meeting.

Respectfully submitted,

MARGARET S. BECHTOL, DEACONESS,
Acting Secretary.

EDITH C. CHAPPELL,
Treasurer.

Might the Editor ask, very respectfully of course, why all the members of the Alumnae Association cannot make some contribution to the Scholarship Fund? The record here printed is a disgrace to the Association, and really, is there any better way in which we can show our appreciation? I think not.

REPORT OF THE RETIRING FUND FOR DEACONESSES

The Annual Meeting of the R. F. D. was held at St. Faith's House, on October 2nd, 1931, with 29 Deaconesses present.

Three members were re-elected on the Board of Directors, Deaconesses Dahlgren, Edith C. Smith and West. The new officers for the coming year are:

President—DEACONESS ROMOLA DAHLGREN.

Vice-President—DEACONESS EDITH M. ADAMS.

Secretary—DEACONESS MARY C. WEST.

Treasurer—DEACONESS EDITH C. SMITH.

The other three members of the Board of Directors are: Deaconesses Gardner, Goodwin and Schodts.

Deaconess Chappell has been appointed as Field Secretary for the next few months and has already begun her duties.

The Treasurer reported a total in investments and cash of $31,643 in the Retiring Fund.

Much interest was shown in the report of the General Convention given by Deaconess Adams. Three important issues were passed by both Houses of the Convention:

1st—The status of Deaconesses according to the Lambeth Conference.

2nd—That Deaconesses should be pensioned and the Committee was appointed to arrange the details.

3rd—The Commission on Deaconesses was appointed for another three years.

The Directors are quite encouraged over the increasing number of people who give to the Fund and the number of organizations who are placing the R. F. D. on their Pledge Cards.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY C. WEST, DEACONESS,
Secretary.

The Annual Retreat, conducted by the Rev. Rodney Brace, Lebanon, Penn., was held at St. Faith's House, from Tuesday evening, September 29—the Feast of St. Michael and All Angels—to Friday morning, October 2. Twenty-six deaconesses were present, almost all of them for the whole time. The subject of the Retreat was, "The Holy Ghost"—not theologically or dogmatically considered, but in practical and personal relation to our own lives; and as might be expected from such a subject and such a conductor, each sentence was significant. Probably no two persons even of those who took notes, would give the same report of the addresses, for to each one different points would seem specially applicable and vital. The whole tone was spiritual, practical and stimulating. As one deaconess said, "I feel as though I had subjects for my own daily meditations for the next year."

The reading, at lunch and dinner, was from "The Way of a Pilgrim," widely reviewed within the last few months, but new to most of us.

HOW WE SPENT OUR SUMMER— SOME AT HOME ST. PHOEBE'S HOUSE

As Deaconess-in-Charge I have been asked to give some account of St. Phoebe's House, near Litchfield, Connecticut. A sunny, comfortable house of ten rooms and modern plumbing, on the slopes of Mt. Tom, above a mountain stream, it is for deaconesses and others who wish to come for rest and retreat. Nestled in the foothills of the Berkshires where in similar secluded spots off the State highway are some of Connecticut's most delightful summer homes and camps, it is three miles from Bantam Lake where bathing and boating can be enjoyed and where saddle horses are for hire. But, perhaps, Phoebe Ford is our most useful asset, for in her we may traverse hill and dale over excellent roads, and visit the various quaint places of historic interest. Our faithful airedale is also a beloved member of the family, and as she usually spends her winters at the Bishop Seabury Glebe House, is quite an ecclesiastical watch dog.

HOW TO REACH ST. PHOEBE'S

New England bus service brings you comfortably to Bantam direct from New York, and from Boston with good connections in Hartford and Torrington. At Bantam you are five miles from St. Phoebe's, and you will gladly be met there by the Ford, or there are taxicabs to be had in case you come unannounced. There is good train service to New Milford, thence to Bantam by bus.

ST. PHOEBE'S SERVICES

In the house is a tiny Chapel, grey and white, and blue for our Lady. Here we say the usual offices, morning and evening, and are glad to offer special intercessions for the sick and others. During July and August it is usually our privilege to offer a daily Eucharist. A chaplain's cottage, St. Anthony's, with three acres of wooded grounds, sloping to the river, affords a vacation home for a clergyman and his family, rent free. It has three bedrooms, a sunny living-room, kitchen and pantry with new porcelain sink and water laid, so many improvements having been made during the past summer, but as yet we have not been able to put in a bathroom, and we should be grateful for gifts of furniture in good condition, three bureaus, a couch, easy chairs, and a cot or two, and small tables, also a drop leaf table would be useful.

We have been fortunate in having had as chaplains, missionaries at home on furlough, a college professor, an army chaplain, and a number of parish priests who came with their families to our primitive little cottage, and to whose faithful services during the past seven years we acknowledge a debt of gratitude. We should be glad to know of any priest, or priests who might care to come next summer.

OUR GUESTS

We have numbered among our guests a deaconess from Jamaica, B. W. I., and other deaconesses from parishes and institutions, Sisters, missionaries at home on furlough, teachers, social workers, mothers, and young women living at home. Guests take care of their own rooms unless they are ill. We endeavor to provide well-balanced meals, with plenty of green vegetables and fruit, and with special attention to diets, as is so often required in these days when diet rather than medicine is prescribed.

MAINTENANCE

St. Phoebe's has no endowments so that we are dependent on the contributions of guests to provide for our cook, for food, and for the maintenance of the chapel services. Fifteen dollars a week meets the running expenses of deaconesses when we have several at the same time, but special arrangements are always made in special cases, and for a long visit.

The house is usually open from June to the end of October. In the spring the air is sweet with the scent of apple blossoms, and in the autumn, city folk often enjoy the balmy sunshine in our crimson tinted hills. When we have no chaplain we drive to beautiful St. Michael's Church in Litchfield, or to St. John's in Washington.

Our post office address is Lakeside, Connecticut, and mail will always be forwarded from there. It is a privilege to offer intercessions for those who send requests whether one is working in Connecticut or in Arizona.

Faithfully yours,

MAYCROFT HOLIDAY HOUSE

Seven years ago, Maycroft came into the possession of the Diocese of Long Island, "for the use of the Girls' Friendly Society," as the will of Mrs. James Herman Aldrich reads. Each summer, from June until after Labor Day, it has been full to capacity, of happy G. F. S. girls and their friends, who by their own efforts have improved both house and grounds in many ways. We are situated on North Haven, an island portion of Sag Harbor, L. I., surrounded by the waters of both Gardiner's and Peconic Bays, an especially beautiful little spot. Here we have 46 acres of rolling land, with 1,000 feet of waterfront, a large main house, a cottage accommodating ten girls, a carriage house, two garages, a tea house, a recreation hall, a boat house and bathing house combined, and a cattle house off in the fields. For amusement there is tennis, croquet, swimming, rowing, canoeing, sailing, hiking, ocean bathing four miles away, all kinds of picnic fun and evening entertainment.

We can care for 42 girls at one time, which with the staff makes a household of 54 people. Members of the G. F. S. pay $8 weekly and non-members, $12. This low board is only possible because our aim is not to make money at Maycroft, but to supply to young women the healthiest, happiest, friendliest kind of vacation possible in a Diocesan Holiday House.

Morning and evening family prayer are regularly read in our lovely little Chapel, arranged in the very heart of the main house, and girls of every denomination come gladly.

Before Mrs. Aldrich's death, when Miss Heckman and I were at the Holiday House in Huntington, it was planned that at her death we should take charge of Maycroft. We know many of her wishes regarding the house and consider it an unusual privilege to try to fulfill them in the name of the Society which she loved.

MABEL HOBART, Deaconess.

SOME FAR AWAY

DEAR EDITOR OF THE BULLETIN:

You asked me for some notes of my summer wanderings—here they are. Do what you want with them.

A very lovely motor trip from Mount Saint Michael to the Convent of St. Francis at Amalfi. In Normandy many Saint's days and local fetes were being observed. We drove through towns and hamlets gay with garlands and streamers and banners, the roses blooming against the thatched cottages and in the gardens of the larger houses, the people in their native costumes worn only on holidays. At Rouen, the Feast of St. Joan of Arc had just been celebrated and the Cathedral was still decorated with the priceless old banners and tapestries, and along the clerestory were tubs of blooming hydrangeas. We happened in on a wedding and so heard the lovely reedy tones of the old organ. At Honfleur, where there is the famous Sailor Church, with its votive offerings of ships of all kinds and tablets in memory of those lost at sea or thanksgiving for bygone rescues and innumerable little cards fluttering on tall stands with appeals of your charity to pray for Jean or Baptiste or Jacques. The sailors fete was in progress and we saw the sailors drag up the high hill the boat that was to be blessed for the coming year. And there, preparations for a sailor wedding, tables for the wedding feast and a space for dancing under the trees, the old priest waiting in the Church door, and as we drove on, we met the wedding procession walking along the road.

At Assisi, Mass was being celebrated in the Lower Church, The old priest, who was at the Altar of the Chapel back off the High Altar, was bearded and wore scarlet vestments. The rest of the small Chapel was filled with Brothers in their brown habits, an older one in the center playing the organ—the younger ones surrounding him as they chanted—their sweet, fresh voices made the Gregorian music lovelier than ever.

In Florence, it was the Feast of St. Peter and there was an illumination—the walls along the Arno and all the windows and doors of every house and Church lined with tapers burning in small earthen bowls—the soft glow of these candles against the sunset was as lovely a sight as one can imagine. We saw Baptisms in the old Baptistry—one a very grand one and another a poor woman for whom the Sacristan had to provide a scarf for her head. On St. Peter's steps we saw a Pilgrim stretch himself on his staff for his prayers, and then turn over and settle himself comfortably to munch the dry bread he carried in a bag at his waist.

I hope this is something of what you want.

Yours,

AMY G. THOMPSON, Deaconess.

BY FREIGHT TO SOME BIBLE LANDS

Leaving August 5th by the American Export Line, S. S. Excelsior, I arrived three weeks later at Piraens, the port for Athens, where with a party of five and a guide who met the steamer we started at 8 o'clock motoring direct to the Acropolis. After visiting the ruins at the foot we mounted to the top, where with the Parthenon towering up behind me and with a wonderful view before me I caught the "Spell of Athens". On the way down I stopped and stood on Mars Hill! The following afternoon we were at Salonica, which is still a busy port as in St. Paul's day. Three days later I was thrilled as we came in view, on a beautiful day at three, to see the sight of Emperor Constantine's new Capital, Byzantium, which is now Stamboul, and soon to visit St. Sophia and discover a figure of Christ, though much defaced, but still there up over the inner Sanctuary. Though much of the beauty is still there, the Church (Mosque) is to be restored by the Byzantine American Institute. Another Mosque which was a Church of a Monastery, contains some famous Mosaics.

Leaving Istanbul (Constantinople) by the Sitmar Line (Italian freight) more Bible lands were seen of St. Paul's journeys as we passed islands and the coast of Turkey, stopping at Rhodes, Messina, port for Tarsus, Alexandretta, port for Antioch, Tripoli with the Lebanon Mountains in the background and Beyrout, where leaving the steamer and spending the night, with driver and guide, we started at eight, motoring along the Mediterranean Sea, passing Tyre, Sidon and Acra to Haifa and on to Nazareth for luncheon. Then to Tiberias along the sea to Capermann, back across country to Cana, and on to Nazareth for the night, a very attractive town nestled among hills and with the well of our Saviour's time still in use.

After an early walk with a lad of twelve for a guide and climbing a hill for the view of Nazareth and the surrounding country, locating interesting places, we started for Jerusalem, crossing the plain of Esdraelon, beautiful still from the harvested wheat fields, passing Mt. Tabor and Nain, caravans, flocks of goats and sheep with Arab shepherds, and on to Jacob's well at Tablous where we had luncheon under olive trees. At two o'clock from an altitude of 6,000 feet Jerusalem came in view, another thrill! During the day and a half I had there I saw all the important places and views which included Bethlehem.

At 8:30 the next morning I was on my way by train to Cairo, crossing the Plain of Sharon, passing Gaza and over the desert to the Canal which was crossed by ferry, and then again by train through the land of Goshen and arrived at Cairo at 10:30.

In St. Peter's Epistle he says, "The Church which is at Babylon saluteth you and so doth Marcus, my son." That Babylon I surely visited, which is old Cairo, and saw a most interesting Coptic Church, the underground Grotto, dating back traditionally to the time of St. Mary's and St. Joseph's sojourn with the Christ Child in Egypt. Leaving the Church with guide and driver we motored to Gizet, and beheld the mighty sphinx and pyramids, and then back to finish Cairo, except the museum, which was closed.

The next day I boarded the steamer Exochorda of the Export Line at Alexandria for home, stopping en route at Naples, Leghorn, Genoa and Marseilles.

KATRINA L. PATTERSON, Deaconess.

SOME LETTERS

We were sorry to hear in October, through Deaconess Kneeves, of the illness of Deaconess Crump. They are both at Brighton, England, and I am sure will be glad to hear from friends. But don't forget that we now pay five cents on English letters.

DEAR CLARINE:

I hope I am in time to tell you something about a party we had at St. Phoebe's on Monday for the BULLETIN.

It was an Anniversary Tea given by the Managers of St. Phoebe's Convalescent Rest, in commemoration of the birthday of Miss Harriette Low (sister of Mayor Low) whose parents built this house after her sudden death in 1885 "for the work she loved", as the memorial tablet in the hall reads. Opposite this tablet hangs a portrait of Miss Low.

The house was open for inspection from 2 to 5 p. m. and we were fortunate in having a beautiful day when every one could see how the sunshine pours into all our rooms, even being reflected into the few North rooms by the large windows of the Brooklyn Hospital which stands in our rear. The outlook on Fort Greene Park from these rooms and from all the East rooms is very lovely.

About 150 came to our "party". There was music at four o'clock and then the usual refreshments, which when I was a little girl I always considered "the party"!

That very evening we admitted a convalescent, the victim of an accident, who had left the hospital one arm bound down by a cast which extends all around her body. She had gone to a friend whose husband had since been taken ill and who was unable to care for two invalids. The woman who came to us cannot lie down so Mrs. L'Heureux has to bundle her up in two chairs at bedtime.

The little circular I enclose will give you more details of our work. Thirty churches have subscribed ten dollars each to support a bed for one year, and the one who came to us Monday will be our first guest on this subscription, even though she cannot occupy a bed!

With greetings to all from Mrs. L'Heureux and myself,

Cordially yours,

MABEL W. NICHOLAS, Deaconess.

GENERAL NEWS

In June Miss Edith Chappell received a nice note from Miss Rylla Saunier in Ipswich. Miss Saunier is living in a pre-Revolutionary house, full of romance, and her days are made happy by the joy she gives to others as a landscape architect.

Deaconess Mary Shepard, 1911, has retired and gone to Spokane. Before leaving her home in Dansville, N. Y., she gave it to the town for a Health Center and Playground. It is dedicated "To the welfare and happiness of Dansville." What a lovely memorial!

Deaconess Gadsden, 1906, was hostess at the Episcopal Cottage at Chatauqua last summer.

Claire Coursen and Louise Hull were living at Grasse, France, when last heard from. A delightful place.

Mary Kwei, on furlough from Central China College, is studying for her Master's degree at Chapel Hill, N. C.

Alice King Potter has begun work at St. Michael's Mission, Esthete, Wyoming, under the Rev. A. A. Hastings.

Ruth Pember for the past year has been a student at St. Dunstan's College of Sacred Music, Providence, R. I.

Mabel Woodruff has been seriously ill, but is recovered sufficiently to take up work at Trinity Chapel, New York City.

Deaconess Chappell has retired though St. George's could not let her go altogether. She is keeping up her Sunday School work and on the official staff.

Deaconess Lyon has returned from Porto Rico where she went last March to help out in an emergency at St. Catherine's School.

Deaconess Phelps has taken up work at St. Margaret's House, Berkeley, Calif.

We extend deep sympathy to Deaconess Coe of Worcester and Deaconess Eleanor Smith of Texas, both of whom lost their fathers this past summer and fall.

Deaconess Carroll has left St. Faith's School at Saratoga Springs and returned to Washington, D. C.

Edna Eastwood has accepted a position as part time director of Religious Education at the Church of the Holy Communion, South Orange, N. J. This becomes effective January 2. She will also carry on a special course of study.

Vera Gardner has succeeded Vera Noyes as Director of Religious Education in the Diocese of Chicago.

Margery Hibbard has become Director of Children's Work at Holy Trinity Chapel, East 87th Street, New York City.

Those of us who live in New York, why don't we help Lucy Kent and China and get some of her Christmas presents there? She is now at 959 Madison Avenue, near 75th Street. She has luscious articles, all from China, luncheon sets, handkerchiefs, tea tables, lacquer.

Mary Alys MacIntosh sailed for Sagada, P. I., in July and Eveline Diggs is returning on furlough from Sagada.

THOSE WHO HAVE BEEN ILL

Deaconess Knapp, who returned from Japan to Los Angeles last summer for an operation on her eyes, is now back again in the Orient. Our warm good wishes are with her.

Evelyn Anderson, Secretary of the Alumnae, is improving in health but is still with her sister in Salinas, Calif.

Deaconess Virginia Young has been very ill. Her present address is, care of Miss Romeyn, 14 Sutton Place, S., New York City.

Mildred James was ill for two months last summer.

Eleanor Sime is much improved in health but will be at Loomis a few months longer.

To all of these our real sympathy.
